3                   UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
4                   WESTERN DISTRICT OF WASHINGTON
5                   AT TACOMA

6                   HILLARY WALLS,

7                   Plaintiff,

v.

8                   PAUL PASTOR, CHAD DICKERSON,
9                   and JOHN DOE OFFICERS 1-3,

10                  Defendants.

No. C12-5183 RBL/KLS

11                  REPORT AND RECOMMENDATION
12                  Noted for: July 6, 2012

13                  Before the Court is the Motion to Dismiss of Defendants Chad Dickerson and Paul
14                  Pastor. ECF No. 17. Plaintiff Hillary Walls filed a response. ECF No. 18. Defendants filed a 15                  reply. ECF No. 19. Prior to the filing of Defendants' motion to dismiss, Plaintiff filed a motion
16                  to amend his complaint. ECF No. 11. The motion was denied under separate Order.

17                  For the reasons set forth below, the undersigned recommends that Defendants' motion to 18                  dismiss be denied and that Plaintiff be given an opportunity to file an amended complaint to cure
19                  the deficiencies noted herein. Plaintiff's motion for sanctions should also be denied.

20                  PLAINTIFF'S COMPLAINT

21                  Plaintiff makes the following allegations in his complaint: On April 20, 2011, Defendant
22                  Chad Dickerson failed to properly investigate Plaintiff's report of identity theft, theft of other 23                  personal property, and forgery. ECF No. 7, at 4. Defendant Dickerson failed to investigate the 24                  loss because Defendant Dickerson believes Plaintiff is a crazy person who uses a fake disability
25                  to falsely collect government compensation. Defendant Dickerson violated police department
26                  policy by not filing a police report regarding Plaintiff's loss for more than four months after the

1 incident and for failing to process evidence given to him by Plaintiff contrary to police
2 department policies. Id., at 5-6. Sheriff Paul Pastor knew or should have known that Defendant
3 Dickerson would violate Plaintiff's constitutional rights given Defendant Dickerson's past
4 conduct and past complaints about his conduct. Id., at 7.

Defendant Dickerson failed to investigate the criminal theft complaint solely because of Plaintiff's disability in violation of the American with Disabilities Act. Id., at 5. Defendant Dickerson failed to investigate the criminal theft complaint because of Plaintiff's race.

9 Plaintiff also alleges, without factual support, that the “Defendants were all acting in 10 there [sic] official positions when they violated the constitution and due process of law equal
11 protection of the law.” Id. Plaintiff filed a motion to amend (ECF No. 11) to drop his claims 12 against Defendants “in their official capacities” because he has learned that “neither the state nor 13 its officials acting in their official capacities are persons” who can be held liable under 42 U.S.C.
14 1983. ECF No. 11. The motion to amend has been denied under separate Order. (While the 15 Court would normally have allowed Plaintiff to amend his complaint to drop his official capacity 16 claims, the proposed amendment does not address the deficiencies and issues raised herein.)

STANDARD OF REVIEW

The court's review of a motion to dismiss brought under Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b)(6) is limited to the complaint. Lee v. City of Los Angeles, 250 F.3d 668 at 688 (9th Cir. 2001). All material factual allegations contained in the complaint are taken as admitted and the complaint is to be liberally construed in the light most favorable to the plaintiff. Jenkins v. McKeithen, 395 U.S. 411, 421 (1969); Lee, 250 F.3d at 688. A complaint should not be dismissed under Fed. R. Civ. P. 12(b) (6), unless it appears beyond doubt that the plaintiff can prove no set of facts in

1 support of his claim which would entitle him to relief. Conley v. Gibson, 355 U.S. 41, 45-46
2 (1957).

3 The Court has an obligation, particularly in civil rights actions, to construe pro se
4 pleadings liberally. Bretz v. Kelman, 773 F.2d 1026, 1027 n. 1 (9th Cir.1985). However, the 5 court's liberal interpretation of a pro se complaint may not supply essential elements of the claim
6 that were not pled. Ivey v. Bd. of Regents of Univ. of Alaska, 673 F.2d 266, 268 (9th Cir.1982);
7 see also Pena v. Gardner, 976 F.2d 469, 471 (9th Cir.1992).

8 In order to survive a motion to dismiss, a complaint must also contain sufficient factual
9 matter, accepted as true, to "state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face." Ashcroft v.
10 Iqbal, 129 S. Ct. 1937, 1949, 173 L. Ed. 2d 868 (2009), citing Bell Atlantic v. Twombly, 11 550 U.S. 544, 570, 127 S. Ct. 1955, 167 L. Ed. 2d 929 (2007). Fed. R. Civ. P. 8(a)(2) "demands 12 more than an unadorned, the-defendant-unlawfully-harmed-me accusation." Iqbal, 129 S. Ct. at 13 1949. "[N]aked assertion[s]" of illegal conduct devoid of "further factual enhancement" do not 14 suffice. Id., quoting Twombly, 550 U.S. at 557. Instead, the complaint "must contain sufficient 15 factual matter, accepted as true, to 'state a claim to relief that is plausible on its face.'" Id., 16 quoting Twombly, 550 U.S. at 570.

17 "Under Ninth Circuit case law, district courts are only required to grant leave to amend if 18 a complaint can possibly be saved. Courts are not required to grant leave to amend if a 19 complaint lacks merit entirely." Lopez v. Smith, 203 F.3d 1122, 1129 (9th Cir. 2000). See also,
20 Smith v. Pacific Properties and Development Corp., 358 F.3d 1097, 1106 (9th Cir. 2004), citing 21 Doe v. United States, 58 F.3d 494, 497(9th Cir.1995) ("a district court should grant leave to 22 amend even if no request to amend the pleading was made, unless it determines that the pleading 23 could not be cured by the allegation of other facts.")

MOTION FOR SANCTIONS

In response to Defendants' motion to dismiss, Plaintiff submitted a pleading entitled "Objections to Defendants Motion to Dismiss under Rule 12B(6) and Plaintiff's Motion to Show Cause Why the Court Should Not Order the Imposition of Sanctions on Defendants Attorney For Willfully Mistaking the Facts and Misleading the Court." ECF No. 18

Rule 11 requires that an attorney sign a pleading, motion, or other paper, only if, “to the best of [his] knowledge, information and belief formed after reasonable inquiry[,] it is well grounded in fact and is warranted by existing law or a good faith argument for the extension, modification, or reversal of existing law. . . .” Fed. R. Civ. P. 11. The Ninth Circuit has held that the Rule 11 standard is identical to the standard used to determine whether or not a prevailing civil rights defendant is entitled to attorneys’ fees. Zaldivar v. City of Los Angeles, 780 F.2d 823, 831 (9th Cir.1986), abrogated on other grounds, 496 U.S. 384 (1990). To award attorneys’ fees under the civil rights acts, the district court must find that the action was “frivolous, unreasonable, or without foundation.” Christiansburg Garment Co. v. E.E.O.C., 434 U.S. 412, 422 (1978). A pleading, motion or other paper well grounded in fact and law cannot be sanctioned regardless of subjective intent. Zaldivar, 780 F.2d at 832. Under this approach, a pleading or motion is not “warranted by law” where no “plausible, good faith argument can be made by a competent attorney” in support of the proposition asserted.” Paciulan v. George, 38 F.Supp.2d 1128, 1144 (N.D. Cal. 1999) (quoting Zaldivar, 780 F.2d at 833)).

Plaintiff makes no showing that Defendants' motion is not warranted by law. Instead, he appears to argue that Defendants' motion is largely without merit because they were aware that he had already filed a motion to amend his complaint. ECF No. 11. That motion has been dismissed under separate Order. In addition, as noted above, the motion to amend merely

1 addressed Plaintiff's claims against Defendants to the extent that they were "acting in their 2 official capacities". See ECF No. 11.

3 The deficiencies and issues raised in Defendants' motion to dismiss are not grounds for 4 Rule 11 sanctions. While Plaintiff may disagree with Defendants' arguments, he has failed to 5 provide the Court with any evidence that the arguments submitted by Defendants are frivolous,
6 unreasonable or without foundation. Therefore, his motion for sanctions should be denied.
7

8 DISCUSSION

9 A. Stating a Claim Under Section 1983

10 To state a claim under 42 U.S.C. § 1983, at least two elements must be met: (1) the 11 defendant must be a person acting under color of state law, and (2) his conduct must have 12 deprived the plaintiff of rights, privileges or immunities secured by the constitution or laws of 13 the United States. Gibson v. United States, 781 F.2d 1334, 1338 (9th Cir. 1986). Implicit in the 14 second element is a third element of causation. See Mt. Healthy City School Dist. v. Doyle, 429
15 U.S. 274, 286-87 (1977); Flores v. Pierce, 617 F.2d 1386, 1390-91 (9th Cir. 1980). When a 16 plaintiff fails to allege or establish one of the three elements, his complaint must be dismissed.
17 That plaintiff may have suffered harm, even if due to another's negligent conduct, does not in 18 itself, necessarily demonstrate an abridgment of constitutional protections. Davidson v. Cannon, 19 474 U.S. 344 (1986); see also Jones v. Community Redevelopment Agency, 733 F.2d 646, 649
20 (9th Cir. 1984) (conclusory allegations unsupported by facts are insufficient to state a claim 21 under 42 U.S.C. § 1983).

22 To obtain relief against a defendant under 42 U.S.C. § 1983, a plaintiff must prove that 23 the particular defendant has caused or personally participated in causing the deprivation of a 24 particular protected constitutional right. Arnold v. IBM, 637 F.2d 1350, 1355 (9th Cir. 1981);

1       Sherman v. Yakahi, 549 F.2d 1287, 1290 (1977). To be liable for “causing” the deprivation of a 2 constitutional right, the particular defendant must commit an affirmative act, or omit to perform
3 an act, that he or she is legally required to do, and which causes the plaintiff’s deprivation.

4       Johnson v. Duffy, 588 F.2d 740, 743 (9th Cir. 1978). The inquiry into causation must be 5 individualized and focus on the duties and responsibilities of each individual defendant whose 6 acts or omissions are alleged to have caused a constitutional deprivation. Leer v. Murphy, 844
7 F.2d 628, 633 (9th Cir. 1988); see also Rizzo v. Goode, 423 U.S. 362, 370-71, 375-77 (1976).

9           Liberally construed, Plaintiff claims that (1) Defendant Dickerson failed to investigate a
10 criminal theft complaint; (2) Defendant Pastor failed to supervise Defendant Dickerson; (3)
11 Defendants violated his due process rights; and (4) Defendants violated his right to equal 12 protection under the law.

13           1.      Failure to Investigate

14           Defendants argue that the Plaintiff’s Section 1983 claim should be dismissed to the extent
15 that it relies upon their actions because Plaintiff has no constitutional right to an adequate 16 investigation. It is true, as a general principle, that an inadequate investigation does not provide 17 a basis for a Section 1983 claim unless the investigation infringed upon another constitutionally 18 protected right. Gomez v. Whiteney, 757 F.2d 1005, 1006 (9th Cir. 1985). However, Plaintiff has 19 cited two substantive rights of which he was allegedly deprived: due process and equal
20 protection. Gomez therefore does not provide an independent basis for dismissal of Plaintiff’s
21 Section 1983 claim against the individual Defendants, assuming that he has adequately stated a
22 claim for violation of his due process and equal protection rights. As discussed below, Plaintiff’s 23 due process and equal protection claims are deficient. The undersigned recommends that he be 24 given an opportunity to cure the deficiencies.

1           2.       Due Process

2           The Due Process Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment protects individuals against 3 governmental deprivations of “life, liberty or property,” as those words have been interpreted 4 and given meaning over the life of our republic, without due process of law. Board of Regents v.
5 Roth, 408 U.S. 564, 570–71, 92 S.Ct. 2701, 33 L.Ed.2d 548 (1972); Mullins v. Oregon, 57 F.3d
6 789, 795 (9th Cir.1995). The Due Process Clause confers both procedural and substantive rights.
7 Armendariz v. Penman, 75 F.3d 1311, 1318 (9th Cir.1996) (en banc).

8           To state a procedural due process claim, a plaintiff must allege facts showing a 9 deprivation of a constitutionally protected liberty or property interest, and a denial of adequate
10 procedural protections. Pinnacle Armor, Inc. v. United States, 648 F.3d 708, 716 (9th Cir.2011);
11 Kildare v. Saenz, 325 F.3d 1078, 1085 (9th Cir.2003).

12           Substantive due process refers to certain actions that the government may not engage in,
13 no matter how many procedural safeguards it employs. County of Sacramento v. Lewis, 523 U.S.
14 833, 847, 118 S.Ct. 1708, 140 L.Ed.2d 1043 (1998); Blaylock v. Schwinden, 862 F.2d 1352, 1354
15 (9th Cir.1988). The Supreme Court has clearly held, however, that where a particular 16 Amendment provides an explicit textual source of constitutional protection against particular 17 government behavior, that Amendment, not the more generalized notion of “substantive due 18 process,” must be used to analyze such claims. Albright v. Oliver, 510 U.S. 266, 273, 114 S.Ct.
19

20           Here, Plaintiff alleges no deprivation of any protected liberty or property interest and 21 identifies no procedural protections that he was denied that could form a basis for a claim of 22 denial of procedural due process. Further, before the Court may determine whether a particular 23 Amendment provides the explicit textual source of constitutional protection, Plaintiff must 24 identify the particular government behavior that forms the basis of his due process claims.

1           3.       Equal Protection

2           The equal protection clause of the Fourteenth Amendment serves to “secure every person
3 within the State’s jurisdiction against intentional and arbitrary discrimination, whether 4 occasioned by express terms of a statute or by its improper execution through duly constituted
5 agents.” Village of Willowbrook v. Olech, 528 U.S. 562, 564, 120 S.Ct. 1073, 1074-75, 141
6 L.Ed.2d 1060, 1063 (2000). Consistent with this principle, an individual may sue for denial of 7 equal protection as a “class of one.” Id. In order to succeed upon such a claim, the plaintiff must 8 prove that he or she has been “intentionally treated differently from others similarly situated and 9 that there is no rational basis for the difference in treatment.” The Fishing Co. of Ala. v. United 10 States, 195 F.Supp.2d 1239, 1254 (W.D.Wash.2002) (internal citation and quotation marks 11 omitted).

12           Plaintiff alleges only that Defendant Dickerson failed to investigate his theft claim 13 because of his race and because of his disability. He fails to include any factual allegations to 14 support this conclusory statement. He does not allege that he was treated different from other 15 similarly situated persons, that the difference in treatment was intentional, or that there was no 16 rational basis for the difference in treatment.

17           4.       Failure to Supervise

18           An individual may be liable for deprivation of constitutional rights within the meaning of 19 § 1983, only if “he does an affirmative act, participates in another’s affirmative acts, or omits to 20 perform an act which he is legally required to do that causes the deprivation of which complaint 21 is made.” Preschooler II v. Clark County Sch. Bd. of Trs., 479 F.3d 1175, 1183 (9th Cir. 2007).
22 That is, a supervisor can be liable for constitutional violations of subordinates only if the 23 supervisor either personally participated in the alleged deprivation of constitutional rights; knew 24

1 of the violations and failed to act to prevent them; or promulgated or implemented a policy “so
2 deficient that the policy itself is a repudiation of constitutional rights and is the moving force of 3 the constitutional violation.” Hansen v. Black, 885 F.2d 642, 646 (9th Cir.1989) (citation and 4 quotation omitted); see also Taylor v. List, 880 F.2d 1040, 1045 (9th Cir.1989). Thus, a plaintiff
5 cannot demonstrate that an individual officer is liable “without a showing of individual 6 participation in the unlawful conduct.” Jones v. Williams, 297 F.3d 930, 935 (9th Cir.2002); see
7 also Blankenhorn v. City of Orange, 485 F.3d 463, 481 n.12 (9th Cir. 2007).

9 Here, Plaintiff alleges only that Sheriff Paul Pastor knew or should have known that 10 Defendant Dickerson would violate Plaintiff’s constitutional rights given Defendant Dickerson’s
11 past conduct and past complaints about his conduct. Although the Court is required to construe 12 the pleadings of pro se litigants liberally and to afford pro se plaintiffs the benefit of the doubt,
13 see, e.g., Hebbe v. Pliler, 611 F.3d 1202, 1205 (9th Cir. 2010); Thompson v. Davis, 295 F.3d
14 890, 895 (9th Cir. 2002), the Court is nonetheless not required—nor even permitted—to “supply 15 essential elements of the claim that were not initially pled.” Ivey v. Board of Regents of Univ. of 16 Alaska, 673 F.2d 266, 268 (9th Cir.1982). Vague and conclusory allegations of official 17 participation in civil rights violations cannot withstand a motion to dismiss because an essential 18 element of a § 1983 claim is that the government official personally participated in the violation.
19 See id. Moreover, the tenet that a court must accept a complaint’s allegations as true is 20 inapplicable to legal conclusions unsupported by factual allegations. Iqbal, 129 S.Ct. at 1949–50 21 (assumption of truth does not apply to legal conclusions couched as factual allegations or to 22 “[t]hreadbare recitals of the elements of a cause of action, supported by mere conclusory 23 statements”) (citing Twombly, 550 U.S. at 555).

1           Thus, Plaintiff must allege facts sufficient to support his claim that Sheriff Pastor knew or 2 should have known that Defendant Dickerson would violate his constitutional rights.

3           Based on the foregoing, the undersigned recommends that Plaintiff be given an 4 opportunity to amend his complaint to include factually specific allegations setting out his claims
5 against Defendants Dickerson and Pastor. Plaintiff should include names, dates and the 6 circumstances surrounding his claims against these individuals and state what constitutional right
7 was allegedly infringed and how each of these Defendants caused him harm by violating that 8 constitutional right.

9
10          The undersigned further recommends that all discovery in this case be stayed pending
11 resolution of Plaintiff's pleadings as the parties should not face the burden and expense of 12 propounding and responding to discovery related to claims that may not survive the pleading
13 stage. See, e.g., DiMartini v. Ferrin, 889 F.2d 922 (9th Cir. 1989), amended at 906 F.2d 465 (9th
14 Cir. 1990); Rae v. Union Bank, 725 F.2d 478 (9th Cir. 1984) (court may relieve a party of the 15 burdens of discovery while a dispositive motion is pending).

16
17 B. Concurrent State and Federal Court Filings

18          Defendants also argue that this case should be dismissed because it is identical to one that 19 was filed by Plaintiff in a small claims case filed in Pierce County District Court against Deputy 20 Dickerson and Sheriff Pastor. ECF No. 17, Exhibit A. According to Defendant, the Pierce
21 County case was dismissed on April 23, 2012 because Plaintiff failed to show for trial. ECF No.
22 17, at 3. (Plaintiff's complaint in this case was filed on February 29, 2012. (ECF No. 1)).

24          Defendants argue the "first-to-file" doctrine, which would apply had Plaintiff filed
25 actions simultaneously in two federal district courts. See, e.g., Pacesetter Sys., Inc. v. Medtronic, 26 Inc., 678 F.2d 93, 95 (1982). The doctrine does not apply when a litigant, like the Plaintiff in

1 this case, files a case in state court and while the state case is pending, files a substantially
2 similar case in federal court. In fact, a federal court's obligation to exercise the jurisdiction
3 given it is generally "virtually unflagging." Colorado River Water Conservation Dist. v. United
4 States, 424 U.S. 800, 817, 96 S.Ct. 1236, 47 L.Ed.2d 483 (1976). Further, the existence of a case
5 in one court does not defeat the court's jurisdiction over the same case in another court. See,
6 e.g., Stanton v. Embrey, 93 U.S. 548, 554, 23 L.Ed. 983 (1877) ("the pendency of a prior suit in 7 another jurisdiction is not a bar ... even though the two suits are for the same cause of action.")
8

9 There is no rule preventing duplicative concurrent in personam actions in state and 10 federal courts. See, e.g., Kline v. Burke Constr. Co., 260 U.S. 226, 43 S.Ct. 79, 67 L.Ed. 226
11 (1922). In certain situations however, a dismissal or stay of the federal action until the 12 determination of a parallel action pending in state court may be warranted as a matter of 13 discretion under the equitable doctrine of abstention. See, e.g., Colorado River, 424 U.S. 800,
14 818–19, 96 S.Ct. 1236 (reinstating district court's stay of proceedings because of parallel state 15 action, and listing nonexclusive factors relevant to the determination, which it deemed 16 appropriate only in "exceptional circumstances.") These factors include: "the inconvenience of 17 the federal forum"; "the desirability of avoiding piecemeal litigation"; and "the order in which 18 jurisdiction was obtained by the concurrent forums." Colorado River, 424 U.S. 800, 818, 96 19 S.Ct. 1236. "No one factor is necessarily determinative; a carefully considered judgment taking 20 into account both the obligation to exercise jurisdiction and the combination of factors 21 counseling against that exercise is required." Id.

22 Defendants do not argue and the undersigned does not find any "exceptional 23 circumstances" warranting dismissal under the equitable doctrine of abstention. The undersigned 24 does not recommend, as urged by the Defendants, that the Court should apply the "first-to-file"

1 rule to these circumstances. It is recommended that Defendants' motion to dismiss based on the 2 "first-to-file" doctrine be denied.

3 Accordingly, it is recommended as follows:

4 (1) Defendants' motion to dismiss (ECF No. 17) should be DENIED.

5 (2) Plaintiff's motion for sanctions (ECF No. 18) should be DENIED.

6 (3) Plaintiff should be given an opportunity to amend his complaint to attempt to cure
7 the deficiencies of his complaint identified herein.

8 (4) All discovery in this matter should be STAYED pending further order of the 9 Court.

10 (5) This matter should be re-referred to the undersigned.

11 Pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1) and Rule 72(b) of the Federal Rules of Civil 12 Procedure, the parties shall have fourteen (14) days from service of this Report and 13 Recommendation to file written objections. See also Fed. R. Civ. P. 6. Failure to file objections
14 will result in a waiver of those objections for purposes of appeal. Thomas v. Arn, 474 U.S. 140
15 (1985). Accommodating the time limit imposed by Rule 72(b), the Clerk is directed to set the 16 matter for consideration on July 6, 2012, as noted in the caption.
